

The People's Press.

Devoted to Politics, Literature, Agriculture, the Markets and General Information.

VOL. XXX.

SALEM, N. C., OCTOBER 26, 1882.

NO. 43.

Come for Thy Rights!
Come, honest manhood, not ashamed to toil,
Stand in the garb or cause that honors thee!
Come from the mill, the forge, or stern soil!

We crown the king, then shall our sovereign be!

Come from the ocean laden—fish or pearls;
Come from the mines with all their precious ore;

Come not as servant, serving monarchs churlish,
But, in thy right stand dignified before.

Then feed kings; they tax less in return;

The clothed nobles, rich in costly dress;

Then biggest coal for them to cheerful burn,

But easiest little, each, to bless.

Thus art content, pushed by unkindly hands;

Stand out, the rightful ruler of the lands!

Come for thy rights, as constant as the sun!

Stand for thy cause in eloquence of deed!

Come with the riches, when thy toil is done,

As plow gives bountiful to thy seed!

What though the rich and proud thy wage take?

Still strivest thou in faithfulness of soul,

Till by thy care the fields a harvest make;

That give a welcome to the living whole:

Nor halting here, to moan with fatal sighs;

That others take as freely as they choose,

Thus give to all to nations in supplies,

And rarely break'st thy serving to abuse;

Thou guard'st, thou honestest here with high repute;

Then plan'st the seed—art generous with the fruit!

Earth bears no blighting curse by the impostor.

Then art her husband, tolling, royal wed!

She bears no malice, when in death depos'd;

Then sleep'st at last within her silent bower;

But kings and despots, ruling to devst;

Have wet her bosom deep with peasant gore.

She keeps account, to settle by at last,

When kings sleep well, but sleep as kings
no more.

How can a death-dehorned king relent?

He lies a subject, humbled in estate;

The peasant has no canopy over or rent;

And in the grave he is a king as great;

He reaches forth in pleasure and hope,

Nor dies unbroken, a morbid misanthrope.

—C. C. Merritt, Springfield Republican.

THE TABLES TURNED.

A large, old-fashioned, quaint gray stone house, with a green, close-clipped lawn, extending down to a very picturesque portion of the Avon. Seated on the lawn were three young ladies in summer toilets with broad straw hats. Two were at work; while the darkest, prettiest, though smallest, was reading aloud.

Suddenly, blended with the musical dip of oars, the still, calm air was broken by a strong, clear, manly voice singing:

"When the lads the village all,
Merrily ab—merrily ab."

"It's Tom! It's dear old Tom!" cried the two girls who were dressed alike. "He's rowed up from Chesser-mill. Come, Georgie, come." Georgie, their cousin, appeared by no means backward, and the three eagerly hastened down to the river.

Scarcely had they reached the edge than a light skiff in which a hand-some young English Saxon of about five-and-twenty, shot from the shadow of the willows to their very feet.

"Here I am, girls!" he cried, cheerfully, slipping his ears and casting the mooring rope round a post placed upon pose.

"Yes, here you are, singing as much out of tune as ever," said Georgie, roguishly.

"Now, please don't begin your sparing," laughed Rosie, the youngest sister. "We are so glad you've come, Tom, whether in tune or not. We have something to tell you and something for you to do."

"Really? Prithee, fair sister, respond," he rejoined, walking up the lawn, a sister on either side of him, through his eyes oftenest sought out.

"But first," asked Lenore, the elder, "how long are you going to stay here?"

"Whitchall has given me a week. My luggage comes by road."

"Capital! Now, let us sit down and we will tell you."

The girls sat in a kind of semi-circle; while Tom laid his whole length before them, his elbow on the grass, his cheek on his hand.

"Now," he asked, "what is the matter?"

"Well," said Lenore, who by general acclaim was nominated spokeswoman, "you must know, Tom, that there is a certain room in this old house Papa has just bought which is said to be haunted."

"Nonsense."

"But it is true. Papa would not let us know where he bought the place, but we soon heard it from the people about here. He, however—as you says it's all nonsense."

"Being a sensible, practical man," interpolated Tom.

"Ah; still gives us full leave to test it."

"And are you going to?"

"We wish to, therefore want you to sleep there one night, Tom."

"Want me?"

"Yes; so that you may inform us," remitted Tom, "whether there is a ghost or not."

"Really, I feel exceedingly obliged," laughed Tom. "But I don't quite see the joke. I am not anxious for a ghostly acquaintance."

"Oh, Tom!" exclaimed Georgie, with a glance that sent the blood to her cousin's cheek. "I didn't think you were a coward!"

"Coward! Come now, Georgie, that's too bad," he cried.

"Well, I think it cowardly," responded the young lady, pursing her pretty mouth. "I don't believe in ghosts more than uncle does; and I want to sleep there, only he will not let me."

"I should think not," said Tom, with quick approval. "But what kind of ghost is it? What is the story?"

"Why, they say years and years ago that the heiress of this large estate—for it was a large estate then—was one night cruelly murdered in that room by her cousin, who, on her death, inherited the property; ever since which period the lady's ghost, attired in white, has the apartment a visit regularly at 12 o'clock midnight," and as Lenny ended there was a tremor in her voice.

"Bosh! Laughed Tom, contemptuously. "Why, Lenny, you look absolutely pale!"

"They will not even pass the door after dark," remarked Georgie, with a toss of the head. "But don't you quiz them, Master Tom, for you also, are too frightened to face it! What coward!" with a little shrug. "I declare, if any man loved me and I found he was a coward, I'd never, never marry him."

Perhaps it was accident, perhaps it was intentional, but Georgie's dark eyes rested on Tom with a smile.

"There goes papa!" cried Rose, at the instant starting up, as a tall, elderly man passed along the terrace in front of the house. "Let us tell him Tom has come."

"Let us all go to him," said Tom.

They rose and the sisters went on before; but Tom somehow managed to drop a little behind with his cousin.

"So, Georgie," he said, "you won't marry a man who was a coward. I hope you meant that for me, because you might marry me if I were not. Oh, dear coz, you know how I love you. If I face the ghost in Christendom, if you would only say you would by my wife!"

"Yet you will not face a probable one, Tom," she laughed.

"I will without demur, if you would only say yes," Georgie, he whispered earnestly. "Ghosts wouldn't frighten me!"

"I'd like to have that proved. I am not so certain," she rejoined, saucily, as they came up to the rest.

"Well, Tom," exclaimed Mr. Harrison, "these stupid girls tell me you want to sleep in the haunted room, for our old house is respectable enough to possess one."

The last was taller, clothed entirely in white, and, standing behind the first, fraudulently waved its long arms with a hollow sepulchral moan.

Presently, however, the smaller spirit had expected this ghostly companion, for perceiving it, with a ringing shriek it fled toward the bed, crying:

"Oh! Tom—Tom, save me! There is a ghost and it's here! Save me—me save me!"

But no sound sprang to her rescue.

Then the taller ghost pursued, exclaiming, in a very earthly voice and amid much earthly laughter:

"So, Miss Georgie, I've caught you, have I? The tables are nicely turned upon me!"

"Tom," gasped Georgie, the smaller spirit, placing the gray gauze from her head over her breast, "I'm afraid you'll catch me!"

"I don't think I shall much," agreed Georgie, smiling.

The next morning, Tom's appearance at the breakfast-table was anxiously expected. When he came his expression was certainly more serious.

"Well," smiled Mr. Harrison, "what did you see? Tom? Giles Scroggins' ghost or anything else?"

"I hope he will see nothing," said his sisters.

"I hope he will," said Georgie, "and prove his courage."

"I shan't sleep a wink to-night," remarked Rose, as they saw Tom disappear down the long corridor.

"I don't think I shall much," agreed Georgie, smiling.

The next morning, Tom's appearance at the breakfast-table was anxiously expected. When he came his expression was certainly more serious.

"Well," smiled Mr. Harrison, "what did you see? Tom? Giles Scroggins' ghost or anything else?"

"I am sure he has seen something," said Lenore, when they were alone.

"I'm certain of it!" coincided Georgie.

Tom had seen something. About midnight, in the farthest corner of the room, he had beheld a shadowy female form, draped in grayish-white, occasionally waving its arms, while faint sighs burst from the lips.

He had felt startled, alarmed! He had tried to think it the moonlight; but glancing at the window he saw there was no moon. So he had laid and looked half frightened, and half ashamed, of being so scared.

Scarcely had they reached the edge than a light skiff in which a hand-some young English Saxon of about five-and-twenty, shot from the shadow of the willows to their very feet.

"Here I am, girls!" he cried, cheerfully, slipping his ears and casting the mooring rope round a post placed upon pose.

"Yes, here you are, singing as much out of tune as ever," said Georgie, roguishly.

"Now, please don't begin your sparing," laughed Rosie, the youngest sister. "We are so glad you've come, Tom, whether in tune or not. We have something to tell you and something for you to do."

"Really? Prithee, fair sister, respond," he rejoined, walking up the lawn, a sister on either side of him, through his eyes oftenest sought out.

"But first," asked Lenore, the elder, "how long are you going to stay here?"

"Whitchall has given me a week. My luggage comes by road."

"Capital! Now, let us sit down and we will tell you."

The girls sat in a kind of semi-circle; while Tom laid his whole length before them, his elbow on the grass, his cheek on his hand.

"Now," he asked, "what is the matter?"

"Well," said Lenore, who by general acclaim was nominated spokeswoman, "you must know, Tom, that there is a certain room in this old house Papa has just bought which is said to be haunted."

"Nonsense."

"But it is true. Papa would not let us know where he bought the place, but we soon heard it from the people about here. He, however—as you says it's all nonsense."

"Being a sensible, practical man," interpolated Tom.

"Ah; still gives us full leave to test it."

"And are you going to?"

"We wish to, therefore want you to sleep there one night, Tom."

"Want me?"

"Yes; so that you may inform us," remitted Tom, "whether there is a ghost or not."

"Really, I feel exceedingly obliged," laughed Tom. "But I don't quite see the joke. I am not anxious for a ghostly acquaintance."

"Oh, Tom!" exclaimed Georgie, with a glance that sent the blood to her cousin's cheek. "I didn't think you were a coward!"

"Coward! Come now, Georgie, that's too bad," he cried.

"Well, I think it cowardly," responded the young lady, pursing her pretty mouth. "I don't believe in ghosts more than uncle does; and I want to sleep there, only he will not let me."

"I should think not," said Tom, with quick approval. "But what kind of ghost is it? What is the story?"

"Why, they say years and years ago that the heiress of this large estate—for it was a large estate then—was one night cruelly murdered in that room by her cousin, who, on her death, inherited the property; ever since which period the lady's ghost, attired in white, has the apartment a visit regularly at 12 o'clock midnight," and as Lenny ended there was a tremor in her voice.

"Bosh! Laughed Tom, contemptuously. "Why, Lenny, you look absolutely pale!"

"I fancy, though," interpolated Tom.

"I fancy you do not believe me?"

"I fancy you were deceived."

"Then night the sisters implored Tom: we have had.

WINE WORDS.

A Peculiar Custom Among the Maoris.

Hon. G. W. Griffen, United States consul at Auckland, New Zealand, recently read a very interesting and valuable paper before the St. Louis Historical society in relation to one of the peculiar customs of the Maoris, or aboriginal inhabitants of New Zealand. It is of interest, from the fact that it illustrated very forcibly the singular phase of savagery which is fast disappearing before the march of civilization.

In the minds of the best men there is, always has been

The People's Press.

SALEM, N. C.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1862.

[Entered as second-class matter at the Post Office at Salem, N. C.]

THE PEOPLE'S PRESS
FOR 1862.
ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.

$1.50 A YEAR.

The Press entered its thirtieth (30th) volume on January 1st, 1862.

Now is the time to subscribe. It will be our endeavor to make the Press more interesting and entertaining than ever.

L. V. & E. T. BLUM,

Salem, N. C., Jan. 1, 1862.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

Election November 7th.

REPRESENTATIVE AT LARGE: RISDEN T. BENNETT, of Anson County.

SUPREME COURT JUDGE: THOMAS RUFFIN, of Orange Co.

SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE: JAMES E. SHEPARD, Second District—FEED PHILLIPS, Third District—ALMARD A. MCROY, Fourth District—JAMES C. MCRAE, Fifth District—JOHN A. GILMER, Sixth District—WILLIAM M. SHIPP.

FOR CONGRESS—7th District—M. W. ROBBINS, of Iredell.

FOR SOLICITOR—7th District—JOSEPH DOBSON.

FOR SENATE—C. B. WATSON, FOR HOUSE COMMONS—GEORGE WILSON, FOR SHERIFF—JOHN BOYER, FOR REGISTER OF DEEDS—D. P. MAST, FOR SURVEYOR—C. J. OGBURN, FOR SUPERIOR COURT CLERK—R. T. STEADMAN, FOR SURVEYOR—M. H. MORRIS, FOR CORONER—WM. BARROW.

REGISTER! REGISTER!!

We learn that comparatively few persons have as yet registered to entitle them to vote in this place. Do not delay to call at Dr. Shaffer's office, and register your names. See notice elsewhere.

RALLY! RALLY!!

A Democratic mass meeting will be held at Kermersville, on the evening of the 4th of November. P. H. Winston and other speakers will be there. Wachovia Band will be on hand.

Election 7th of November.

The long-pending income tax suit against Samuel J. Tilden has been dismissed.

We again urge our Democratic friends to see to it that their names are on the registration books.

The latest is that the comet actually grazed the atmosphere of the sun while whirling around it.

Bishop Paine, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died last week, at Aberdeen, Miss., aged 84 years.

The Charlotte Observer of Sunday appeared in the form of an eight page paper, with 37 columns of advertisements.

Secretary Mayo, of the Virginia Agricultural Society, has our thanks for an invitation to the State Fair at Richmond, Va., to be held on November 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

VIRGINIA.—The Lynchburg Fair held in that city on the 24th of October, the Rockbridge county fair at Lexington on the 11th and the State Fair in Richmond on the 1st of November.

Senator Ransom will speak in Guilford county, place to be hereafter designated, on the 3rd day of November, and Gov. Jarvis will speak at East Bend, Yadkin county, on the 27th, and at Germanton, Stokes county, on the 28th of October.

The County Canvas opened at Clinics on Tuesday of last week. The candidates are around shaking hands. But so far Mr. Watson does all the talking, and he is able to do it. On Monday last the sheriff was in Salem, and the candidates were around seeing their friends.

We are pleased to see the enlargement of the Leominster Topic, published at Lenoir, Caldwell County, N. C., W. W. Scott, Jr., and W. C. Erwin, Editors.

The Topic is ably conducted and is well deserving the liberal support it receives.

Maj. Robbins spoke in Mt. Airy on Thursday last, to a large crowd. He made a powerful speech and held the audience for over an hour. He sweeps the deck at every blow and leaves his competitors groaning in the brush. All who heard our gallant candidate for Congress say he made one of the best speeches ever heard in Mt. Airy. He handles York and does it with gloves off. York harped on prohibition, but it was of no use, the people understand. He can't catch any fish in that worn-out net. Robbins will walk in with 5,000 majority. Put that in your pipe and smoke it.—News.

The North Carolina State Fair, which closed on last Friday, is pronounced the best which has ever been in the State. The attendance on the chief day was over 13,000. The Fair was remarkable for the exhibits made by colored people; one of whom, Geo. Snipes, took the second premium in cotton and the most valuable premium—three tons of guano. Another colored exhibitor won a gold medal and nine prizes. —Wilmington Star.

Information from the west coast of Vancouver's Island, is that a British steamer, from Hong Kong for Victoria, has been lost at Clouquest, forty-five miles north of Juan de Fuco strait. The ship has gone to pieces. It is supposed that several hundred passengers, to be employed on railway works, and a large amount of Chinese goods, were on board.

From returns received at the Democratic headquarters in Columbus, the plurality in Ohio will be 18,918. The Congressional delegation stands as heretofore reported—15 Democrats to 6 Republicans. The official court elects Neal, a Democratic Congressman in Ohio, by 3 votes. How plainly does this indicate the duty of every Democrat to register and then vote, truly says the Goldsboro Messenger.

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 19.—Robt. Harris, a poor boatman, yesterday morning found 300 Spanish doubloons under the stump of a tree near the Pamlico river. The finding of the coin has caused great excitement here. Harris has been offered $5,000 for his treasure. During the past 100 years periodical searches have been made on desolate sandbars and islands on the North Carolina coast for treasure supposed to have been buried by the pirates, Captain Kidd and Blackbeard. From time to time money has been found.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., October 20.—W. H. Bailey, Democratic candidate for the House from Mecklenburg county, was assaulted this evening, by A. B. Gillespie, revenue agent, and badly wounded. Gillespie struck him with brass knuckles, cutting him to the bone on the forehead over the eyes and on the lip. The attack was made because Bailey stated that he was informed that Gillespie was one of the men who was using money to carry the election in this country for the Republicans. Gillespie gave bail in $100 for his appearance for trial to-morrow. The affair has caused considerable excitement and further trouble may be apprehended.

An appeal was taken from the decision.

As the first number of a new volume, the November CENTURY gives promise of even increased excellence for the magazine during its second year under the new name. Pictorially, the November number shows that the CENTURY is an ambitious as ever for the reputation of American wood-engraving, as witness the frontispiece portrait of Florence Nightingale and the full page portrait of Henry James, Jr., both by Cole; Eldridge Kingsley's beautiful full-page engraving, direct from nature, of a view in New England woods (accompanying which is a description by the engraver of his manner of working); the full-page reproduction, by Kruell, of an idea bronze head which is one of the costly art-treasures of the British Museum; Mary Hallock Foote's refined and charming illustrations, engraved by Miss Powell and by Cole; and the many other pictures by well-known artists, some of which have a special interest as the experiments of a new process of art reproduction.

Though the art side of the November CENTURY is so conspicuous, the contents offer striking proof of a tendency to make the literary side of the magazine paramount and of the greatest possible excellence and importance, in travel, biography, fiction, poetry, criticism, and in the discussion of the foremost public questions.

The Post Office Department is endeavoring to stop the practice of a large number of postmasters of using the money from the sales of stamps in their own business while reporting to the department that they have the stamps on hand. One postmaster ordered $1,300 in stamps and sold almost immediately $900 worth, but he reported to the department that he had sold only about $200. Eventually all the money is turned over to the government, but the postmasters manage to get the use of the funds for their private business, for the greater part of the year. The special agents of the department are now hunting up such cases.

An election for officers of the N. C. Fruit Grower's Association was held in Lenoir, Caldwell County, West Virginia, Maryland, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and New Jersey met in Allegheny City.

The first annual convention of the National Liquor Dealer's and Manufacturers' Protective Association of the United States met in Milwaukee.

No man knows what a ministering angel his wife is until he comes home one day, suffering with a dreadful cold and she happens to have a bottle of Dr. Ball's Cough Syrup in the house.

Indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, nausea, etc., cured by using Brown's Iron Bitters.

How to Organize.

The State executive committee request the publication of the following programme for organization:

1. Let there be a county committee composed of active, working, zealous, intelligent men.

2. Let there be township committees composed of the best men in the township.

Right here the work is to be done, and hence the absolute necessity for the very best men in the township.

3. Let each township be divided into convenient districts, with known well defined boundaries, as far as possible, such as roads, creeks, &c., each committee-man taking one subdivision under his especial charge.

In each sub-division let there be a sub-committee of three, or four, or 5 or as many as need be, with its chairman, and appointed by him. This sub-committee is to report to its chairman and operate under his direction.

4. Let each sub-committee prepare at once two lists of all voters in its sub-division, one for its own use, the other to be given to its chairman.

5. Let each sub-committeeman and each township committee-man examine the registration books from time to time, and check off the voters who have not registered, and then use every effort to get Democratic voters to register.

6. Let each sub-committee meet with its chairman and check the Democratic voters who have not registered, and make arrangements for inducing them to register. On the 28th of October let them meet again for same purpose.

On election day let the township and sub-committees be early at the polling places with their lists of voters. Let the names of voters be checked off as they vote, and at one o'clock let a list of absent Democratic voters be made by the township chairman and given to the sub-committeemen, who will at once proceed to ascertain if the absences cannot be induced to come to the polls and vote. For this purpose the chairman of the township committee must have provided suitable conveyances and have them constantly ready to hand.

If this simple plan be carried out, our majority in the coming election would not be less than 30,000. It must be remembered that the Radical party always holds its full strength. Let us see if we cannot put to rout this revenue ring and those misguided negroes who allow themselves to be ruled by the revenue masters. If we organize properly we will do it, for there are 190,000 white voters in the State. All we have to do is to bring them out. There are 50,000 who have never voted. Of this 50,000 nine out of every ten will vote the Democratic ticket if they go to the polls. Let us see that they get there.

Two and one-fourth (21) years of Radical rule, from July 1, 1868 to 1870, cost North Carolina in cash raised by taxation (the millions raised by issue of bonds not counted) $2,096,942.50. Two years of Democratic rule, 1880 and 1881, cost $964,046.90. Saving to the people in two years more than one million dollars; to be exact, $1,132,895.69. Half a million a year is worth saving, and that amount has been annually saved to the tax-payers of North Carolina since the control of the Legislature, the taxing power, passed to the Democrats in the fall of 1870. Not only so; whilst they have reduced taxes and expenses one-half, a wise administration of the taxes collected has thus enabled the investment of a large part of them in permanent improvements. More than half a million dollars has been used for the Western Railroad, the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad, the white Insane Asylum at Morganton, the colored Insane Asylum at Goldsboro, and the Dear and Dumb and Blind buildings for each race at Raleigh. Verily, it would seem that the Democrats of North Carolina have had the sense to understand and the courage to use the true measure of public expenditure. They have brought it to the lowest limit consistent with a thoroughly efficient public service and an adequate support of the public institutions.

The latest is that the comet actually grazed the atmosphere of the sun while whirling around it.

Bishop Paine, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died last week, at Aberdeen, Miss., aged 84 years.

The Charlotte Observer of Sunday appeared in the form of an eight page paper, with 37 columns of advertisements.

Secretary Mayo, of the Virginia Agricultural Society, has our thanks for an invitation to the State Fair at Richmond, Va., to be held on November 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

VIRGINIA.—The Lynchburg Fair held in that city on the 24th of October, the Rockbridge county fair at Lexington on the 11th and the State Fair in Richmond on the 1st of November.

Senator Ransom will speak in Guilford county, place to be hereafter designated, on the 3rd day of November, and Gov. Jarvis will speak at East Bend, Yadkin county, on the 27th, and at Germanton, Stokes county, on the 28th of October.

The County Canvas opened at Clinics on Tuesday of last week.

The candidates are around shaking hands. But so far Mr. Watson does all the talking, and he is able to do it. On Monday last the sheriff was in Salem, and the candidates were around seeing their friends.

We are pleased to see the enlargement of the Leominster Topic, published at Lenoir, Caldwell County,

N. C., W. W. Scott, Jr., and W. C.

Erwin, Editors.

The Topic is ably conducted and is well deserving the liberal support it receives.

Maj. Robbins spoke in Mt. Airy

on Thursday last, to a large crowd.

He made a powerful speech and held the audience for over an hour.

He sweeps the deck at every blow and leaves his competitors groaning in the brush. All who heard our gallant candidate for Congress say he made one of the best speeches ever heard in Mt. Airy. He handles York and does it with gloves off. York harped on prohibition, but it was of no use, the people understand.

He can't catch any fish in that worn-out net. Robbins will walk in with 5,000 majority. Put that in your pipe and smoke it.—News.

The Winston-Salem Band.

One of the most attractive features of the State Fair yesterday (and will be to-day) is the Wachovia Cornet Band, of Salem and Winston, fourteen members in number, and they are to furnish music for the magnificent display of Forsyth county. The following gentlemen compose the band, classified according to instruments, and a handsome and gentle-looking band they are, too: Eb. Cornet—S. T. Mickey and G. H. Rights.

Bb. Cornet—F. C. Minung.

Eb. Alto—E. A. Ebert, P. A. Wilson, Jr., and J. R. Walker.

Tenors—C. W. Vogler, L. W. Pegram and J. W. Davis.

Baritone—D. T. Crouse.

Bass—G. R. Shultz.

Bass Drum—Geo. A. Boozier.

Snare Drum—W. T. Johnson.

Cymbals—Walter Crouse.

Drums—John A. Gilmer.

—W. L. Strode.

—W. L. Strode

The People's Press.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1882.

LOCAL ITEMS.

—Call at Dr. Shaffner's office and register your names preparatory to voting. See notice in another column.

—Election 7th of November.

—Eight weeks till Christmas.

—Full Moon on the 26th, to-day, at 9:12 in the morning.

—Alfred Smith handed us a fine beet weighing six pounds.

—The Wednesday evening prayer meetings are again held regularly.

—The various Sunday Schools now hold their sessions in the afternoon.

—Frank T. Baldwin offers his interest in the High Point Pioneer for sale.

—Go to FRIES' for your FINE SHOES.

—Prof. P. J. Leonard will have a "union singing" at Midway, on next Sunday.

—Mr. F. H. Fries and lady and Miss Lula Fries are visiting North cities.

—Apples are in fair supply. Prices ranging from 50c. and 75c. to $1 for choice lots.

—Internal Revenue collections in the Fifth District for week ending October 21, were $24,905.65.

—Chestnuts are rather high, and the crop here is also short as many of the old trees have died.

—The dried fruit trade has in a manner subsided, and prices hold up pretty well.

—Trees delivered by the Commercial Nurseries of Nashville will be delivered at Winston on the 31st inst.

—Mrs. Christian Fogle presented us the boss beet of the season, weighing thirteen pounds. Who can beat it.

—The oak mast is bountiful, but there never have been so few hogs in the country, in our recollection, to consume them.

—Hickory nuts are booming, and we see bushels of them brought to town by the boys for fireside cracking this winter.

—The tobacco breaks have been very fair during last week and prices high. This week prices are rather on the decline.

—A protracted meeting was held at Providence Moravian church last week. Emanuel Fishel, Rev. James E. Hall and others were present.

—Go to Mrs. T. B. Douthit's and see her Goods, and examine prices before buying elsewhere. She is selling her stock at greatly reduced prices for cash.

—Holiday Goods are beginning to come in. During the next few weeks the Salem Bookstore will be full of bright and saleable goods.

—Mrs. Phoebe Padgett, of Friedberg, celebrated her 80th birthday on Sunday last. About 80 of her relatives and neighbors were present.

—Sig. D'Anza's Italian dog is a curiosity in the canine species. He is pretty well educated in various tricks, but understands only Italian orders.

—Fletcher R. Loftin, of Davidson, and A. Holton, of Yadkin, are among the young lawyers who obtained license at the Supreme Court, now in session.

—The business of Salem Branch Railhead for the past month has increased nearly 40 per cent. as compared with the corresponding month of last year.

—C. A. Hege and Miss Lichtenhauser have gone to the Northern cities. Mr. Hege on business, and Miss L. who has been visiting here, goes home.

—Litta Miller, youngest daughter of Mr. G. Miller, fell from the front gate, Tuesday last, and received painful wounds about the forehead.—Leader.

—The largest and most complete assortment of ZIEGLER BROTHER'S SHOES ever brought to this market, just received.

—A lively thunder storm passed over this section on Monday night. The weather on Tuesday was cooler, with a bracing atmosphere. Wednesday morning still cooler.

—The Methodist Protracted and Quarterly Meeting of the M. E. Church will be held at Morris Chapel, in this county, commencing on Saturday before the 5th Sunday in this month, 28th inst.

—The Greensboro New Garden Fair was held on Wednesday and Thursday (to-day). A large number of people have been there from Guilford and neighboring counties. Hope to announce a Forsyth Fair next year.

—Miss Susan Holland presented us a fine large sweet potato. Two grew in one hill, the heaviest weighing six and a half pounds, and the other four pounds. Grown in Wm. B. Hampton's garden.

—We have received a copy of the fine steel engraving of "Christ before Pilate," from Peterson & Co., given as a premium to Peterson's Magazine. It is one of the finest engravings ever offered by that enterprising firm.

—At a recent meeting of the Baptist Sunday School the following officers were elected: Superintendent, A. J. Hunt; Assistant Superintendent, I. W. Durham; Secretary, T. A. Wiles; Treasurer, C. J. Watkins; Librarian, W. L. Foster.—Leader.

—In the afternoon Love Feast will be served to the scholars and teachers of the Schools, at 2 o'clock.

—All the Schools in Forsyth County are invited to be present.

Further notice hereafter.

JAS. T. LINEBACK, Chmn.

E. A. EBERT, Sec'y.

Members of State Sunday School Convention and visiting friends, are invited to attend the exercises of County Sunday School Convention, and children's day.

Rice can be raised on our soil with good results. Rice is a profitable crop.—Leader.

Mrs. T. B. DOUTHIT

Has the largest and best selected stock of Goods, such as Millinery and Fancy Goods, to be found in this part of the country. Go and see them.

—Protracted meeting at Moravian church at Macedonia, Davie county, commences next Sunday. Revs. J. E. Hall and C. L. Rights will conduct the services.

—Protracted meeting at Friedberg, 3rd Sunday in November. Rev. J. E. Hall, pastor.

A protracted meeting will be held at Maple Springs including the 5th Sunday.

—The following special premiums have been offered to the New Garden Fair:

For best lot of 50 lbs. wrappers tobacco, $10, given by R. B. King.

For handsomest baby under 12 months of age, born in North Carolina, a $10 gold necklace given by John Chamberlain.

The President says other special will be received up to the day of the Fair.

—Elm Street Chapel will be dedicated next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Dr. Rondthaler will conduct the dedicatory services. The Sunday School will take formal possession, with appropriate ceremonies, consisting mainly in singing. The occasion promises to be one of unusual interest and we congratulate the worthy Superintendent and the corps of teachers on the consummation of their brightest hopes.

—The jam of wagons continues at the Boner & Crist old stand. We are satisfied that C. R. Welfare is selling goods as cheap as any house in either of the two towns. NEW GOODS received twice a week. Thanks to the many customers who have been trading with him.

—The oak mast is bountiful, but there never have been so few hogs in the country, in our recollection, to consume them.

—Hickory nuts are booming, and we see bushels of them brought to town by the boys for fireside cracking this winter.

—The tobacco breaks have been very fair during last week and prices high. This week prices are rather on the decline.

—A protracted meeting was held at Providence Moravian church last week. Emanuel Fishel, Rev. James E. Hall and others were present.

—Go to Mrs. T. B. Douthit's and see her Goods, and examine prices before buying elsewhere. She is selling her stock at greatly reduced prices for cash.

—Holiday Goods are beginning to come in. During the next few weeks the Salem Bookstore will be full of bright and saleable goods.

—Mrs. Phoebe Padgett, of Friedberg, celebrated her 80th birthday on Sunday last. About 80 of her relatives and neighbors were present.

—Sig. D'Anza's Italian dog is a curiosity in the canine species. He is pretty well educated in various tricks, but understands only Italian orders.

—Fletcher R. Loftin, of Davidson, and A. Holton, of Yadkin, are among the young lawyers who obtained license at the Supreme Court, now in session.

—The business of Salem Branch Railhead for the past month has increased nearly 40 per cent. as compared with the corresponding month of last year.

—C. A. Hege and Miss Lichtenhauser have gone to the Northern cities. Mr. Hege on business, and Miss L. who has been visiting here, goes home.

—Litta Miller, youngest daughter of Mr. G. Miller, fell from the front gate, Tuesday last, and received painful wounds about the forehead.—Leader.

—The largest and most complete assortment of ZIEGLER BROTHER'S SHOES ever brought to this market, just received.

—A lively thunder storm passed over this section on Monday night. The weather on Tuesday was cooler, with a bracing atmosphere. Wednesday morning still cooler.

—The Methodist Protracted and Quarterly Meeting of the M. E. Church will be held at Morris Chapel, in this county, commencing on Saturday before the 5th Sunday in this month, 28th inst.

—The Greensboro New Garden Fair was held on Wednesday and Thursday (to-day). A large number of people have been there from Guilford and neighboring counties. Hope to announce a Forsyth Fair next year.

—Miss Susan Holland presented us a fine large sweet potato. Two grew in one hill, the heaviest weighing six and a half pounds, and the other four pounds. Grown in Wm. B. Hampton's garden.

State Sunday School Convention will be held at the same place, and on Thursday, November 2, 1882, all the Sunday Schools in the county are requested to assemble in the Court House Square, Winston, whence they will march to the Salem Square. The procession will move at 10 o'clock. A. M.

In the afternoon Love Feast will be served to the scholars and teachers of the Schools, at 2 o'clock.

All the Schools in Forsyth County are invited to be present.

Further notice hereafter.

JAS. T. LINEBACK, Chmn.

E. A. EBERT, Sec'y.

Members of State Sunday School Convention and visiting friends, are invited to attend the exercises of County Sunday School Convention, and children's day.

The processions will move at 10 o'clock. A. M.

—In the afternoon Love Feast will be served to the scholars and teachers of the Schools, at 2 o'clock.

All the Schools in Forsyth County are invited to be present.

Further notice hereafter.

JAS. T. LINEBACK, Chmn.

E. A. EBERT, Sec'y.

Members of State Sunday School Convention and visiting friends, are invited to attend the exercises of County Sunday School Convention, and children's day.

The processions will move at 10 o'clock. A. M.

—In the afternoon Love Feast will be served to the scholars and teachers of the Schools, at 2 o'clock.

All the Schools in Forsyth County are invited to be present.

Further notice hereafter.

JAS. T. LINEBACK, Chmn.

E. A. EBERT, Sec'y.

Members of State Sunday School Convention and visiting friends, are invited to attend the exercises of County Sunday School Convention, and children's day.

The processions will move at 10 o'clock. A. M.

—In the afternoon Love Feast will be served to the scholars and teachers of the Schools, at 2 o'clock.

All the Schools in Forsyth County are invited to be present.

Further notice hereafter.

JAS. T. LINEBACK, Chmn.

E. A. EBERT, Sec'y.

Members of State Sunday School Convention and visiting friends, are invited to attend the exercises of County Sunday School Convention, and children's day.

The processions will move at 10 o'clock. A. M.

—In the afternoon Love Feast will be served to the scholars and teachers of the Schools, at 2 o'clock.

All the Schools in Forsyth County are invited to be present.

Further notice hereafter.

JAS. T. LINEBACK, Chmn.

E. A. EBERT, Sec'y.

Members of State Sunday School Convention and visiting friends, are invited to attend the exercises of County Sunday School Convention, and children's day.

The processions will move at 10 o'clock. A. M.

—In the afternoon Love Feast will be served to the scholars and teachers of the Schools, at 2 o'clock.

All the Schools in Forsyth County are invited to be present.

Further notice hereafter.

JAS. T. LINEBACK, Chmn.

E. A. EBERT, Sec'y.

Members of State Sunday School Convention and visiting friends, are invited to attend the exercises of County Sunday School Convention, and children's day.

The processions will move at 10 o'clock. A. M.

—In the afternoon Love Feast will be served to the scholars and teachers of the Schools, at 2 o'clock.

All the Schools in Forsyth County are invited to be present.

Further notice hereafter.

JAS. T. LINEBACK, Chmn.

E. A. EBERT, Sec'y.

Members of State Sunday School Convention and visiting friends, are invited to attend the exercises of County Sunday School Convention, and children's day.

The processions will move at 10 o'clock. A. M.

—In the afternoon Love Feast will be served to the scholars and teachers of the Schools, at 2 o'clock.

All the Schools in Forsyth County are invited to be present.

Further notice hereafter.

JAS. T. LINEBACK, Chmn.

E. A. EBERT, Sec'y.

Members of State Sunday School Convention and visiting friends, are invited to attend the exercises of County Sunday School Convention, and children's day.

The processions will move at 10 o'clock. A. M.

—In the afternoon Love Feast will be served to the scholars and teachers of the Schools, at 2 o'clock.

All the Schools in Forsyth County are invited to be present.

Further notice hereafter.

JAS. T. LINEBACK, Chmn.

E. A. EBERT, Sec'y.

Members of State Sunday School Convention and visiting friends, are invited to attend the exercises of County Sunday School Convention, and children's day.

The processions will move at 10 o'clock. A. M.

—In the afternoon Love Feast will be served to the scholars and teachers of the Schools, at 2 o'clock.

All the Schools in Forsyth County are invited to be present.

Further notice hereafter.

